Venus Bay, SA

For The Boat Mags' SA field editors, Di Ross and John Batty, taking their new Mako Craft ('Red Frenzy') across to Venus Bay was a labour of love; few people appreciate the unique beauty and history of this special holiday destination more than these two South Aussie fishing and boating enthusiasts. Enjoy Di's words and JB's stunning pics in this special report.
