

“I’m Pickin’ Up Good Vibrations . . .”

Story and Pics by Frank Milito

The evolution of sport fishing in Victoria’s pristine East Gippsland wilderness has been a remarkable journey that has turned many corners during its development.

Now, through the introduction of artificial technologies made available to an experienced fraternity of anglers, we have the ability to successfully out fish live bait on a regular basis for a number of species. Without exception the Vibe or blade lure has fast become one of the go-to methods for beginners, right through to elite bream tournament anglers, for catching one of our colder climates’ most sought after and challenging species: the Southern Black bream.
