

Okay, you've got the catfish - now go to sleep!

Author Andy Myers with a black spot tusk fish

Tea or coffee, anyone? The crew do it tough on Leviathan! (Note foldaway berths)

Darwin Rebels' Escapade . . .

They don't do things by halves up in Darwin. Fishing and crabbing are taken very seriously, so when Darwin fisho and builder Andy Myers decided to take his father in law from down 'south' fishing - they made not one, but two trips. The first was to the fringes of Bynoe Harbour, pretty much on Darwin's back doorstep - but the second, down to the Peron Islands, involves quite a serious run, and a whole lot more planning. Not least of which was figuring an equitable plan to divide up the 'spoils' from the packed ice chests that would have most southerners go weak at the knees . . . . this is a great report from Andy, packed with a heap of useful info about fishing the 'Territory. You'll need it - 'coz after reading his report, you'll be planning to get there, somehow, soon!

Leviathan in 6 Pack at high tide.

Last jew for the bag limit hooked and running - hang on, John!