

Horizon 445 Northerner

It's no great secret The Boat Mag team is very keen on this 4.5-4.9m side console style of craft. Over the last couple of years, we've featured them extensively because we think they are just about the bee's knees for a very considerable number of Australian boating families looking for that true "all rounder". . . .