

STACER

2008-9

Stacer are focussing on SIX key words for their design program for 2008-2009. They are

- Safety ● Stability ● Space ● Storage
- Styling ● Suitability

and as the F&B team discovered, these people are

- Seriously committed to building a better boat!

For the first time in two years, Stacer has launched a new range showcasing a complete interior refresh, new features and four completely new models.

The SF (Sports Fishing) Series, Nomad and Bowrider ranges form the first stage of the release with the Runabout and Cabin ranges to follow in late 2008.

National Sales & Marketing Manager Damien Duncan said the new 2008 range takes the Stacer brand in an exciting new direction.

"The new 2008 range has retained Stacer's popular and high performing Evo Series Hulls, functional Mod Pod transom and level flotation and instead focuses on styling, storage and space," Damien said.

"Our research and development team has given the new models an interior refresh by introducing a new colour scheme of grey and cream across the carpet, upholstery and dashes, delivering a modern and stylish feel.

"In addition to aesthetics, new features across the range include increased storage capabilities, bright anodised rails and new side pocket designs for maximum space usage and functionality," he said.

Other new features include rolled side decks for comfort and a clean finish as well as a new funnel deck wash on all Mod Pod models.

"For the fishing enthusiasts the new Stacer range also includes four new fishing focused models," Damien said.

"Our research and development team has designed the exciting 459 Barra Pro, 489 Barra Pro and 519 Barra Pro for the tournament angler after the competitive edge.

"For fishermen in the top end we have also introduced the rugged and roomy 529 Northern Fisher," he said.

The new 2008 range also sees four new two-tone paint colours

Above: This is the new Stacer 459 Barra Pro which has created so much interest with anglers all over the country . . . Stacer has tried really hard with this one, to incorporate all the features the top anglers are seeking, and more importantly perhaps, to have them installed in the right places. We'll be testing this rig shortly. Below: Stacer (and the Oz boating public) is continuing its love affair with sterndrives; this is their latest effort, the 539 'Sportster'.

on offer with the addition of sunburn orange, platinum grey, dune and toxic green to the already available light blue, black, red and navy.

All 519 models and larger with a Mod Pod purchased as a complete factory 'Ready 2 Go' package now also come with a perfectly matched Stacer aluminium trailer.

As part of the Stacer 2008 model release, three new tournament style fishing models have been added to the SF (Sport Fishing) Series – 459 Barra Pro, 489 Barra Pro and 519 Barra Pro.

The Barra Pro models have been designed specifically for the tournament angler and incorporate some of the most exciting features of the new 2008 Stacer range.

National Sales and Marketing Manager Damien Duncan said the Barra Pro models are a first for the Stacer brand.

"We have designed the Barra Pro models to compete head on with the market leaders in aluminium and glass tournament style boats," Damien said.

"Stacer has never had a range of boats that has competed specifically in this market and given recent strong sales of other brands, we believe Stacer now not only has a range that competes but exceeds customer expectations with unsurpassed storage, space, styling, stability, safety and suitability.

"The Barra Pro range offers a unique tournament style transom with more usable space and storage, and when combined with the stability and superb tracking of the Evo Series II hull this range ultimately sets a new standard for aluminium tournament boats," Damien said.

Other stand out features of the Barra Pro range include an above tournament standard live bait tank (75 litres) and kill tank (120 litres), a revolutionary purpose built side console with four rod holders bright anodised grab rail, sports steering wheel and the new 2008 grey and cream internal colours.

The maximum horsepower

Stacer 529 Northern Fisher

You'll wrap your laughing gear around this one, too - this is the clever, "let's step backwards to go forwards" el-bastico Stacer Northern Fisher 529. It's so wonderfully simple, practical - no "frills" whatsoever - fishos everywhere will sigh with relief that FINALLY someone has made a fishin' boat people can afford - and can build / modify / fit-out THEMSELVES !! Make SURE you see it on the Show Circuit - it's a bottler.
